

Name _____

Weekly Word Work

Synonyms, Antonyms, Parts of Speech

Using at least 8 of your spelling words from this week, you need to come up with a synonym and/or an antonym for each word, and identify its part of speech (is it a NOUN, VERB, or ADJECTIVE). You also need to sort your words twice out loud (use a reading phone).

Word	Synonym	Antonym	Part of Speech

Odd One Out

Odd One Out - Students use their Word Study List and/or Word Study Notebook to create oddity tasks for each other. Students should put three words together that share a common feature and one word that does not have the feature. Partners switch papers and identify the "odd one out" and tell why the chosen word does not fit with the others.

Examples:

1. post snow spry no

Spry has a long i sound while the others all have the long o sound.

2. wild post delight glue

Delight is the only word with two syllables.

Delight is the only word that does not have a blend.

3. spry throat wild no

The only word that uses two vowels is throat.

List 4 oddity tasks here. Then write the identity of the odd one out on the back

Also, write the reason for why the odd one does not fit.

1

2

3

4

Odd One Out

1. Oddity _____ Why: _____
2. Oddity _____ Why: _____
3. Oddity _____ Why: _____
4. Oddity _____ Why: _____

Write your key words for the week (no oddballs) at the top of each column. Then, during your independent reading, write down words you find in your reading that fit into the columns because they follow the same rules.

[illegible]

Write your sort out, using your best cursive penmanship.

[illegible]